Dear Mr. Monroe:

This letter will confirm our conversation of today, at which time you consented to my request of an extension to January 17, 2003, as the date on which my client Reckitt Benckiser Inc. may respond to the Request for Information Pursuant to CERCLA, 42 U.S.C. Section 9601, et seq., dated October 15, 2002 addressed to the Chief Executive Officer of Airwick Industries, Inc., in connection with the above-captioned matter.

You had mentioned to me, in a previous conversation, that a list of persons receiving the Information Request is available and can be forwarded to me via e-mail. Please forward it to me at jmckinney@mccarter.com.

Again, thank you for your consideration in this matter.

Very truly yours,

Dear Mr. Monroe:

This letter will confirm our conversation of November 6, 2002, at which time I requested an additional 30 days, i.e. through December 16, 2002, in which my client Reckitt Benckiser Inc. may respond to the Request for Information Pursuant to CERCLA, 42 U.S.C. Section 9601, et seq., dated October 15, 2002 addressed to the Chief Executive Officer of Airwick Industries, Inc., in connection with the above-captioned matter. The basis for my request was that records, to the extent they exist, in connection with the location to which the questions are directed, will take some time to find, as they are likely archived. You agreed to my request and asked that I confirm it in writing. Thank you for this extension.

During our call, you stated that a list of persons receiving the Information Request is available and can be forwarded to me via e-mail. Please forward it to me at jmckinney@mccarter.com.

Again, thank you for your consideration in this matter.

Very truly yours,

John A. McKinney, Jr.
